The only clue to the proceedings was found in the prediction that the conference would be finished in one day.

"This is the first meeting of the committee since the election," said George W. Perkins, its chairman, "and it probably will be attended by more than the usual number. When we have completed the conference a statement will be issued telling what has been done. None of the reports of what we will do has been given by any one who could speak with authority."

days, and not be permitted to load up with large quantities. Informal here is that some applicants have obtained supplies to last a month, while in the same communities others have been unable to get any stamps.

ILLUSTRATION OF VAST NUMBER OF STAMPS REQUIRED

As an illustration of the vast number of stamps required, it was pointed out that virtually every article in drug stores is subject to the tax. Many drug stores carry possibly 100,000 such taxable articles, and there are thousands of drug stores throughout the country.

Officials say Congress did not facilitate the work of the Revenue Bureau, but rather hampered it by failing to give any additional appropriation to permit to prepare for carrying out the new law.

The bureau to-night made public a ruling that certificates issued by officers of a State in the interest of the State are not subject to the tax. Certificates issued by an officer of private government at the request of private persons, solely for private use, must be stamped.

RESERVES CALLED OUT TO RESTRAIN CROWDS

NEW YORK, December 1.—Police reserves were called out to-day to restrain crowds that besieged the United States Internal Revenue offices here to buy the new war tax stamps. A solid line of would-be purchasers extended for blocks, growing increasingly restless as the hours passed. When the offices reopened at 3 o'clock, after an hour's recess for the collectors to count the money received and send it to banks, so fierce a rush was made that policemen on duty could not cope with it. Reserves brought the crowd to order again, and the sale continued until all who remained in line had obtained stamps.

RUSH TO PAY WAR REVENUE TAXES

In spite of the fact that he has an extra force of men working with him, the office of Collector of Internal Revenue R. C. L. Moncure is being rushed with merchants come to pay their war revenue taxes. The special tax on tobacco dealers was due on Monday, but many came in yesterday to pay, and there is a rush to pay today. The war revenue tax bill provides a penalty of 50 per cent against those who fail to pay the tax on time. Mr. Moncure hopes that he will not be put to the necessity of imposing a fine, especially in view of the fact that the schedules have been published in the press.

POSTAL RECEIPTS

Decrease of Nearly 5 Per Cent as Compared With Last Year.

Postal receipts for the month of November 1914, were $3,506,44, or 4.8 per cent, according to the figures given out yesterday by Postmaster Hay T. Thornton. There was no definite explanation of the decrease, other than the effect of the European war, the influence of which has been felt in mail service and in the parcel post as it has been in commerce.

Receipts were given out by Mr. Thornton, follow:

Received from sale of stamps $63,976 51

Received from second, third and fourth class and box rents 4,573 39

Total $68,549 90

Receipts for same period 1913 $72,056 34

Decrease $3,506 44, or 4.8 per cent.

FAVORS COMPULSION

Dr. Naon Would Enforce Arbitration, Rather Than Resort to Arms.

RALEIGH, N. C., December 1.—Compulsory arbitration of international difficulties rather than a resort to force of arms, was advocated here to-night by Dr. Romulo S. Naon, minister from Argentina to Washington, in an address before the North Carolina Literary and Historical Association. He declared that for fifty-eight years it had been the policy of his country to bind the nations of the world to it by means of arbitration treaties.

Dr. Naon stressed the need for co-operation and constructive charity, and said that the Associated Charities, and willing to co-operate with any social worker in every possible way to solve the difficult problems and puzzling questions which invariably arise in the treatment of many cases. "We are glad to say," continued Dr. Naon, "that the general interest in social work is increasing, duplication is being minimized, co-ordination is being effective, and the good of the family is being looked upon as paramount."

WILL ELECT OFFICERS THIS AFTERNOON

The secretary was enthusiastic about the Richmond Boys' Settlement, saying that the total attendance for the summer had been 3,853, and that the total enrollment had been 589.

OFFERS LIFE TO SCIENCE

Prisoner Willing to Have Himself Inoculated With Cancer Germs.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

NEW YORK, December 1.—To make amends to society for a serious crime he committed a few years ago, a life prisoner in Auburn has written Thomas Mott Osborne, the newly appointed warden of Sing Sing, offering himself to be inoculated with cancer germs, to prove whether or not this disease is contagious.

The man has asked Mr. Osborne not to divulge his name, but, according to the new warden, he is young, highly intelligent and realizes that in case the disease is found to be contagious he will die.

In his letter, the man says he is willing to sacrifice his life, having first become interested in the subject when he read an article written a year and a half ago by Dr. Park, of Buffalo, who operated on President McKinley. This man is sincere in his request that he should be allowed to make this sacrifice for society," said Warden Osborne to-night. "He is willing to take his chance in hopes that if cancer is found to be contagious, he will be able to save thousands upon thousands of lives."

NO EVIDENCE DISCOVERED

Bryan Believes Warships for Europe Are Not Being Built Here.

WASHINGTON, December 1.—Secretary Bryan to-day said that after a thorough investigation of rumors that submarines were being built in the United States for European belligerents, the American government had found no evidence to support such reports.

The secretary said government agents had not discovered that work of any character was being done on foreign war craft, and declared his belief that the rumors that submarines were being constructed in sections for shipment abroad.

While the building of war vessels for a belligerent is a branch of neutrality, Mr. Bryan declined to say what aid the State Department would make if it were discovered American firms were building submarines in sections. When it was recalled that during the Russo-Japanese War submarines were built in the United States and shipped to Russia, the secretary declined to comment, saying such a case would be ruled on if it arose.

NO CONCEALMENT MADE BY A. RANDOLPH HOWARD

Virginian Wants All of His New Friends to Know of His Prison Past.

HAS PARDON FROM WILSON

Former Cashier of Fredericksburg Bank, Who Has Served Time in Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta, Will Manage Farm in New Jersey.

NEW YORK, December 1.—A Randolph Howard, who was released recently from the Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., is stopping at the Marlborough Hotel. He is a Virginian of Fredericksburg. His mother was a Howard, and his father was a Howard. Both mean something in Virginia and wherever Virginians are.

Mr. Howard is going to Suffolk County, N. J., to be manager of George Batten's famous Jersey cattle-breeding estate there. He is not going to slip in as an unknown Mr. Howard with a past to hide. He is going as A. Randolph Howard, one-time cashier of the Conway, Gordon & Garnett National Bank of Fredericksburg, Va., who was convicted of leading its money in violation of the Federal banking statutes, and served twenty months of his five years' term in the Atlanta Penitentiary, and then was pardoned by President Wilson.

Mr. Howard's lawyers tell him, Mr. Howard is going to be an honorable and lucrative position in New Jersey, in spite of the district attorney in the district of which Fredericksburg is a part. Mr. Howard was cashier of the Conway, Gordon & Garnett Bank for twenty years, and owned one-third of its stock. His private passion and constant care was the farm near Fredericksburg, where he bred and raised Jersey cattle.

In a time of financial stress that affected the long-time customers of the bank and the community, Mr. Howard took the responsibility in making loans which subsequently were declared judicially to have been made in violation of the Federal and State banking laws. He was convicted of this, and no personal profit brought the cashier any reward for his acts.

WANTS NEW FRIENDS TO KNOW:

THEN LET THEM JUDGE HIM

Mr. Howard said nothing on this subject at the Marlborough. He does not defend nor discuss that affair. He merely made it plain that when he goes to Suffolk County, among new people, he is going to be A. Randolph Howard, all there to know who he is and has been, that they may judge him as each decides for himself.

When the loans made by authority of Mr. Howard were presented to the State grand jury of the Fredericksburg district indictments were found against him for violation of the State banking laws. He also was presented to the Federal grand jury and was indicted for violation of the banking laws of the United States.

Mr. Howard was tried in the Federal court and convicted. He was sentenced to five years in the Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. He made the usual legal battle, lost, took his medicine and was removed to the Atlanta prison.

One of the Virginians indicted was found against him was not pressed. One still outstands against him. After the release of Mr. Howard on September 1, 1914, the Fredericksburg district attorney decided to prosecute him on the outstanding indictment. He sought extradition.

"You cannot extradite me," Mr. Howard replied and continues to reply. "In order to win any release from your application for extradition you must present an affidavit that I am a fugitive of justice of the State of Virginia. This man makes such an affidavit concerning me will perjure himself."

"I am not a fugitive from justice in Virginia. I left that State in the custody of officers of the Federal government, who, by force and against my will, bore me outside its boundaries and delivered me into the custody of the warden of the Federal prison in Atlanta, Ga. I have not been within the State of Virginia since my release from the prison in Georgia. I never fled from Virginia. Therefore, I am not a fugitive from Virginia."

Mr. Howard held prevalent in his attitude against extradition. He has made a careful review of all his travels since his release to establish by affidavit that he has not been within the State of Virginia since his release. He has been spent by him in his native State.

stood or even dreamed of. His books and essays have kept him before the world as one of the greatest modern writers on naval strategy. He was a close student of world politics, and his writings on the trend of the politics of the leading nations of the world were accepted as authority. It may be said safely that no writer of modern times evinced a keener insight in the affairs of the world, or expressed concerning them more clearly and convincingly than did the late Admiral Mahan. His death will cause international sorrow.

national regret, not only because of the high esteem in which he was held in every country of the world interested in naval affairs, but also because of the fact that his death leaves a void among naval and political authorities of the world that no author and writer can fill.

The admiral's literary achievements have been widely recognized. In 1894 Oxford University (England) conferred the degree of D. C. L. upon him, and later he was awarded the degree of LL. D. by Cambridge (England), Harvard, Yale, McGill and Columbia. He was a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, and of the National Institute of Arts and Letters.

HAD WIDE INFLUENCE ON MANY NATIONS

NEW YORK, December 1.—It has been said of Rear-Admiral Mahan that his work on the influence of sea power on world history are responsible for the German Emperor's naval policy, and have had a more profound influence on the trend of the naval thought and action, not only in the United States and Germany, but in Great Britain and throughout the world, than the writings of any other man of his day.

In naval circles the world over his contributions to this great subject have been hailed as almost epoch-making. "Among Admiral Mahan's best known works are 'The Influence of Sea Power upon World History,' 'The Naval Aspect of War,' 'From Sail to Steam' and 'The Problem of Asia' and other publications of note."

SUFFERED AWFULLY NOW QUITE WELL

A Lady's Suffering Was So Intense, That At Times, She Was Unable To Straighten Her Body.

Walnut, N. C.—"About 12 years ago," says Mrs. S. W. McClure, of Walnut, "I began to fall in health, getting worse all the time. I wasn't able to do my work, suffering awfully at times with pains in sides, especially the right side, and none of the time was I well."

Sometimes I could not straighten up my body for the intense suffering. I suffered more or less all the time, and was irregular.

As Cardui had helped others, I started trying it. I bought six bottles, and after using two or three bottles, I commenced improving, getting better all the time, until I was entirely well.

I became strong and healthy, gained flesh, weighing 120, being just as shadowy when I commenced taking Cardui. My work is a pleasure, and I feel like doing my work since, for the cure was permanent, and I have been well and strong ever since.

Cardui is a fine medicine for suffering women, and I recommend it to all my friends who have womanly trouble."

Thousands of women have written to tell of the help Cardui has been to them. Cardui is a mild female tonic, acting especially on the womanly organs. It has shown itself of great value to sick, weak women. It is surely worth a trial.

Begin taking Cardui to-day.
